PRIMO CARNERA IS VERY MUCH OVERMANAGED

Primo Carnera is the heavy-weight boxing champion of the world but nevertheless it is said that he is practically penniless, his many managers having separated him from the coin of the realm. Just he has earned in his seventy-eight one battles. The huge Italian, a care-free, happy-go-lucky fellow is anything but a financial genius, and it is not on the cards that he will make a fortune for himself in his chosen profession.

The Man Mountain adviser, eager to capitalize at his expense, will attempt to steer him clear of formidable opponents until a gold on harvest has been reaped in exhibition bouts and probably in the movies. They will set no precedent in taking such a course, but it is to be hoped that they will at least have the common decency to see that Carnera gets his share of the profits.

Carnera and Max Baer have suddenly become the outstanding heavyweights in the world, and Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey have been relegated to the also ran class. It is an unusual situation, and one that calls for deep thought on the part of the rival nations and their managers. All will hesitate before there is a final showdown. Then, nonpossessor of a title, is of course, anxious to take on the Italian, but the latter will be persuaded to sidetrack such a test until the public demands that it be staged.

After defeated Schmeling de-ceitfully but Carnera went him one better when he crushed Sharkey
under an avalanche of blows,
which were backed up by stupendous strength. The Livermore Lar-ruper professes to be confident that he can whip the vast Venetian
but he may be taking too much for granted. Carnera, never knocked out in his career, might hand
the Italian Westerner a convincing lesson. He would have an advantage in weight and also in experience, and Baer might be well advised to wait until next year before he climbs into the ring with the shoo-in.

ON 6000 MILE JOURNEY—
REACHES PORT COLBORNE

Port Colborne: Leo Lalonde, 22
year old Canadian of Deux Rivieres, Que. arrived at Nickel Beach in Port Colborne late last night in his 12 foot birchbark canoe, having completed 930 miles of a 6000 mile journey he plans to make in the fall craft during the next four years. Lalonde arrived at the beach in the evening and struck camp for the night. He will remain until tonight, when he will continue his journey which will take him to Sault Ste. Marie before the end of summer.

Lalonde was born in Northern Ontario and has trapped and fished all his life. He is an unusually capable canoeist, and but two other men, both in Toronto have been able to handle his canoe. The canoe, built by an Indian, is of the triple wall type, with an out-layer of birchbark, a middle layer of canvas and an inner lining of wood shavings. The canoe when fully built, weighed 20 pounds,

but because of repairs and a gun
wale constructed to strengthen it it now weighs between 30 and 40 pounds. It is claimed to be the only canoe to have successfully navigated
the Alouet Rapids in Ontario.
Lalonde having run the rapids
himself in the canoe.

FAVOR ANNUAL GAME
MCGRAW AND MACK

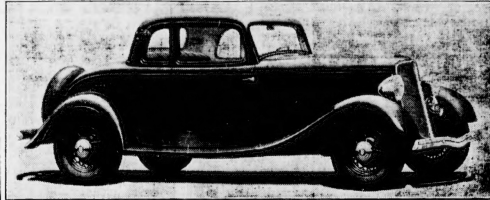

Conley Park, Chicago: After
the last ball was into Rick Ferrell's glove ending the baseball
classic with the American League
ers victorious old John McGraw,
leader of the National League, bounced out of the dugout and shouldered his way through the crowd to the dressing room on his compadre to extend congratulations.

The fiery McGraw, leader of the New York Giants for thirty years
now 60 years old, wanted to win
this game as greatly as he ever wanted to win anything. He had been lured off the back porch of his home in Peblum, N. Y. out of baseball retirement to pilot the National League all stars, and his desire to win was a disappointment.

It was a splendid game, wasn't it? he asked. Italkah is either good or bad, and he was hat to day. They got the breaks and won.
We had a couple of chances to even it up or go into the lead, but faded. Babe Ruth checked one of our spots when he went to the wall to grab Haley's long fly. I thought sure it was going for a home run.

Ruth, he was marvelous. That old boy certainly came through when they needed him.
After reaching the dressing room
of the American League, Mc-Graw went immediately to the 71 year old Connie Mack, extending his hand in felicitation. They chatted for a minute and then Mc-Graw went to the dressing room of the players, where all who knew him greeted him with a friendly
Hello, John, and Wandy! It swell!

Both Mack and McGraw praised the spectacle and hoped that it would be repeated annually.
The two leaders were besieged by autograph hunters. The three ball players instead of fans. The

SAYS EAST
TO WEST

An article by Col J. H. Woods of Calgary, appeared recently in Canadian Business, the official organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. It is a very direct statement of the Western's position, written in the hope that the East may understand the West more fully.

Western people cannot but feel that they have a real champion in Col Woods, who dissembles all considerations but those vital to Western welfare.

The Lethbridge Herald in quotation from the article quotes freely from the writer's advice that banks and insurance companies voluntarily re-write their contracts.

State it so that the mortgagee again has hope that he can pay out; either that or the original investment will be lost. Much of the talk about vicious debt adjustment legislation in the Prairie Province legislatures would be unnecessary if the bank companies and insurers would recognize the situation and re-write their contracts with farmers now.

Proceeding to tariffs, Col Woods drives home the general Western opinion.

The West considers that no Canadian tariff is ever framed in its interests as against the interests of Eastern Canada, and that therefore it is always paying, in relation to its business, an undue proportion of the country's obligations in that regard. In one's obligation.

another they have been framed primarily for the safeguarding and development of Canadian industry, which is located chiefly in the East. When we get it so that if we import from the United States we have to pay extra duty because British money is worth less than ours, we feel that those who protect the industry of Canada are literally playing both ends against the middle.

This is not a protest against the Canadian tariff system, which has many complications, but it justifies the claim that, seeing we get less benefits and pay more proportionately in connection with customs tariffs than any other part of Canada, we are entitled to consideration in other respects to assist in our development.

Western Canada, being chiefly dependent on exportable primary products for its wealth, obtains little, if any, special benefit from tariffs, and it cannot help feeling that wealth created by those tariffs should be available in liberal measure to assist its producers. The money wealth of Canada, he necessarily in the East, the primary production of Canada is largely in the West, and the best market for Eastern Canada is also in the West. When, therefore, owing to world conditions, the Western farmer finds his products and his lands greatly reduced in value he feels a reasonable right in asking Eastern Canada to adjust his obligations toward it as to put him back on his feet. —Lethbridge Herald.

INVERLAKE

Archie McInnis is expecting his brother James of Battle, for a short visit again this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Lee visited their former home district near Huxley the first of the week.

Tourists from northern Saskatchewan say that if the excessive rains in the district north of Prince Albert and North Battleford do not stop soon, the crops will all go down from the heavy growth of straw.

Sam Hinchey and his son, Duane, have a nice field of about 20 acres of potatoes on the Hill-Morris farm north of here. They have just finished irrigating the crop and are now cultivating and hoeing it.

The C. P. R. ditch has been kept full during the past month with the many emergency calls for irrigation water.

William Salts, well known member of the C. P. R. Irrigation branch at Dalmoy and also president of the Strathmore branch of war veterans has just had printed and is distributing a most interesting and thoughtful booklet, entitled, "Multigan; or A Plea for a Dictatorship of Common Sense. Mr. Salts has always been a vigorous advocate of social and economic reform and has put his life thought into an appeal for the betterment of humanity.

Robert Allan the well known Inverlake Clydesdale breeder has been showing an especially fine string of prize tubers at the Stampede this week and will personally accompany his horses around the entire fair circuit during the next six weeks or more.

Constance H. Gray, town policeman of Unity, Sask., and his children are visiting Mrs. Gray's brother, Robert Allan and family, for a few weeks. Before the Great War Constable Gray was town policeman at Banff and is well known to many old timers in Calgary and Banff. They have visited the Calgary Stampede this week and will stay in Banff a short time before their return to Unity. There is a large number of applications for Blackfoot Trail school with offers to teach the coming year at salaries ranging from $400 up.

Tommy Oldham of Strathmore spent the week end with Arthur and James Hodson and accompanied the Hodson boys to Calgary on Monday morning to witness the Stampede parade.

A man entered an Aberdeen sheep and bought an attache case. May I wrap it up for you? asked the assistant.

Oh, no, thank you, returned the man; just put the string and paper inside.

Visitors are always welcome here but on July 14th special opportunity will be afforded all interested to inspect the experimental work being conducted and to gain, first hand, information concerning the many experiments being conducted which have a bearing on the problems of the dry and as well as the irrigation farmer in this end of the Province.

The programme is to start at 10 a.m. with organized tours of the post work including cereals, forage crops, fertilizers and sugar beets. The speakers will be heard immediately after lunch.

Come early if you possibly can and don't forget to bring a basket of lunch. In addition to coffee, milk will be provided for the children for lunch on the lawn at noon and again in the evening.

A feature of the day will be the visit of the Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, and the new Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Dr. H. Barton. Come to meet and hear these men. They and other prominent men will speak during the afternoon starting at 1:30.

Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms Branch, and a number of Divisional Officers from Ottawa, will be present. These men, with the Station staff will assist with the Field Day programme, which following the addresses of the afternoon, will be concluded with an inspection of livestock, poultry, horticulture and bees.

We are doing our best to let every farmer in the south of Alberta know of this Field Day and Basket Picnic, and have asked the Press and the U. F. A. to assist us in this. However, we are taking this additional means of telling you about it and extending to you, your family and neighbors, a cordial invitation to attend.

Yours sincerely,
W. H. Faircliff, Supt.

A wedding of wide interest in this district took place in Arrowood on the afternoon of July 5, when Miss Isabelle Mackie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mackie, was united in marriage to Mr. A. T. Phillips. The ceremony took place in the bride's home with only the immediate relatives present. The bride, attended by Miss Leonard, was beautiful in her veil and gown of white lace. Mr. Ralph Leonard supported the groom while the bride wore a white and blue gown. During the signing of the register, Miss Margaret Leonard sang, "I Love You Truly." Following the ceremony a buffet lunch was served. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. H. E. Johnston of Nanika.

The groom's gift to the bride was a wrist watch, and to the bridesmaid a silver-mounted and chain, while the bride's gift to the groom was a kodak.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left by train for a short trip to the interior of B. C. and upon their return will reside in Arrowood. Mrs. Phillips is well known in this district and her husband will have the hearty good wishes of this community for a happy voyage across the salt in the good ship matrimony.

The girls' soft ball team will be adding to their contribution towards the supper they are putting on at the dance Friday July 15th. They need funds for equipment and the latter exposure having been met so far by their coach and one or two others. This is a practical assistance. Cheating girls will play here at 7:30 on the 15th.

and the game will be followed by the dance. Drummer's orchestra will supply the music.

The Limit of Creativity
He discovered most things he read he decided what the scriptures said.

He questioned history's written pages. He studied the words of ancient sages.

Skeptical of all the news. He knew far better, he asserted. You cannot fool so wise a bird.

Yet he, as credulous as a jar. He never would be himself old say.

We are not expecting too much. The men who are trying to settle world affairs have not always been able to settle their own.

It is in the Fort Arthur country 1581 men were at work taking out pulpwood. Agitators, said to be Communists got among them and there were several strikes following by interference with the men who were willing to work. The camp was closed and the United States purchasers notified that the contract could not be completed. This incident gives one an inkling as to the reason why the old man still sticks around the corner. He is afraid the boys have not yet learned the lesson. Ordinarily a man who does as much as he can does not mind other fellows working, but this does not apply to labor agitators.

Sir Phillip Gibbs says modern inventions have done nothing to bring the races together. A friend who follows them says it is utterly impracticable that it would only clutter up the track and demoralize the participants.

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS

Due to the prevalence of Grass hoppers in various parts of the Municipality residents are reminded that it is their duty to use poison bait in controlling and destroying these pests. The district has opened a bait mixing station at the U. G. G. elevator at Carleton and residents who have infestation of Grasshoppers can obtain bait at this station by simply giving their mail getting it. No charge is made for the bait supplied to residents of the Municipality.

Residents are also reminded that it is their duty to use control means in keeping down the number of gophers.

We wish the newspapers would keep quiet about wheat prices so far as we are concerned. We are the millers and bakers will hear about it!

A writer in a satirical journal notes that plus fours are going out of vogue. They will soon be a minimum quantity.

Signs of business revival multiply. The latest is a threatened strike of railwaymen.

Like J. P. Morgan, Mr. Otto H. Kahn did not pay income taxes in the past three years. He got out of it by selling stock to his daughter, registering the loss in his return, and then buying it back. Charles Mitchell worked the same game by selling to his wife. How do wealthy bachelors work it?

1/2c Mr. Morgan, too, Kahn paid British income taxes in those years, but there, as in Canada, the law is not framed to permit evasion.

It was known all along that such laws were being made by wealthy men in the United States to avoid income taxes. We have during the past three years seen frequent references to the practice in the newspapers. Nothing was due to stop it.

There will always be scope for inventive genius, and someone invents a ratiatus stovepipe.

It won't be long now until men open conversations this way. Do you remember when we had the deurestion?

Poor Patty Arbuckle. One night of revelry and his world was shattered. Yet he might have pieced it together again if death had not been so impatient.
